

WERS

ies Can

COUNCIL

being discussed, the made available to rurers and farmers reconstruction of their valuations er.

SH FOR GRANTS
Mr. Madden said, been last year 100 grants under the Act. If we give well as the Department applicants will tent of £550. Look have for grants, e, at least, 500 year. That would 55,000. How could ear that? I believe to our present nes and endeavour land our work, our whole econ-amara—There will among the rate- The rates have or highest possible pt this scheme we e we will end. ey agreed that lation the local merick had done the housing of the They were doing ld for the people at need. However, ndition put in the the valuation or ably low level, he real objection to ion.

BELLION."

CRETION OF NCIL

ncipled out that the discretion of kind of a scheme d under the Act. y couldn't make indiscriminately, d the costs would h. If, as Mr Mad- they gave 1275 to cents, the rates 8d, in the f. That icial chaos. He d adopt the Sec- to strict limita-

TAKEN.

aken as to ction should be resulted: For Messrs. Barrett, essey, Creamer, G. Hayes, J. Mackey, Maguire, n 15. Against ty, Clery, Cooke, ladder, Naugh- Connor, Quish-ed to a deputa- which came be- at its previous ing they had tary house sited ad been turned using Engineer, living in dire- ly said, "One of and big family. n his employer's a with a family out."

E HARDSHIP.

ING NEEDS.

oke up into g the various survey on the illages through- ly later advised f Officer of the Department, on t farmers in the itics should be ntarily or ectm-

ROAD"

four p.m. when ir work on this e weekends was rrow, Saturday

LAMPS

hting onths are the most lists. Above tor-shaping, put battery ss, and the socket give ase of life. ealer for a with battery and bulb 1/2. ROAD" LAMPS RTLAND ST. McConall

Obituaries

MRS. MARY HISTON, CHURCH-TOWN, NEWCASTLE WEST.

We regret to announce the death of Mrs. Mary Histon, wife of Mr. Patrick Histon, tailor, Churchtown, Newcastle West, who passed away on 19th November, in the prime of young womanhood and after a comparatively short illness. Deceased, who belonged to a highly esteemed and widely respected West Limerick farming family, was daughter of the late Mr. J. Griffin, Kilrudane, Ardagh. She was a lady of many outstanding qualities and her death, in the early forties, evoked widespread regret amongst a very wide circle of relatives and friends. Sincere sympathy will be tendered to the sorrowing husband, daughter, brothers and sisters, as well as to the numerous bereaved relatives.

There was a striking demonstration of public sympathy at the funeral, which took place on 21st ult., from Newcastle West Parish Church to Churchtown Cemetery. All sections of the community were represented in the huge cortege, which was one of the largest and most representative of its kind ever seen in the district.

The officiating clergy were:—Right Rev. Mgr. Hannan, P.P., V.G., Newcastle West; Very Rev. Father Quinn, P.P., Templeglantine; Very Rev. M. Ryan, P.P., Glin; Very Rev. Father Ruddle, P.P., Ardagh; Rev. D. Costelloe, C.C., Newcastle West; Rev. M. Kelly, C.C., do.; Rev. Father Liston, C.C., Abbeyfeale.

The chief mourners included:—Pat Histon (husband), Anna Histon (daughter), James, Jerry, Tom, John Griffin (brothers); Eileen (sister), etc., etc.

Mass cards were received from:—Pat and Anne; James; Tom; Amsie; Eee and family; Eileen; John, Madge and family; Mr. and Mrs. Warren, Abbeyfeale; Neil and Dan O'Connor; Corbett family; Foster family, Ferrybridge; Bridgeman family, Borrhigone; Mary A. Creed; the cousins at Coolcroogue; the Cribbin family, Tiermore; the Fitzgerald family; Lansdown Terrace; Kate; O'Connor family, Churchtown; Mamie and Michael Histon; Nora and family; John Murphy and family, Ballygeele; Pat Joe Murphy and family; Mrs. Mgt. Murphy and family, Gurteen; Nora and Frank Carroll; Mrs. Daniel O'Connor and family; Dan O'Connor, S.C.R., Limerick; Chris. Mick and Maisie; Peggy and Bill Enright; Madge and Michael Ambrose, Dunganville; Dan and Mary Geohegan and family; Madge and Jim O'Regan; Michael and John Roche, Ballygeele; Bridget D. Condon Ardrine; the Corbett family, Bridge Street; Mary and Seamus; May Morrisson; Marie, Madigan; Patrick Buckley and family; Larry and Mai Morrissey; Mrs. Catherine Leonard, Cullinagh; Leonards, Ringwood; Patrick Cronin and family; Mrs. P. O'Connor and Willie; Jim and Lelia Nash, Bridge Street; Paddy and Eileen Murphy; Thomas and Mrs. Roche, Square House; John G. and Kathleen Roche; Owen O'Neill and family; Michael Curtin and family; Tobin family, Churchtown House; Normoyle family; Mary Lenihan and family; David Flynn, Churchtown; Donal Collins and family, Ballylahive; Dalton family, Church Stree; Margaret, Stephen Donovan and family; Jack and Lill Flynn; Roger and Mary Jones; Conway family, Churchtown; Julia Lenihan and family; Murphy family, Churchtown; Denis and Jimmie Healy; the Flynn family, Old Pike; Timmie and Ellie Long, Dromtrasna; Long family, Turaree; John O'Connell and family; John and Kitty Whelan; Mary Madden; Hanna McEneaney and family; Jack and Alice Enright; Mrs. Jer. Murphy and family; Mollie Connors and auntie; Pat and May Doherty; Patk. Ward, St. Ita's Tee; Mary and John Kelly, Maiden Street; Bidsie O'Connor; Danie and Nora Doherty; Nora Lyons, Churchtown; Ned and Mary White, Churchtown; the Mulcahy family, Ballylahive; all the Barrett family; Mrs. Curtin, Gurrane; the Woolfe family, Ducaiteen; E. and M. Sweeney, Kilrudane; John Moore and family; Mrs. Kate Fitzgerald and family, Athes; Hough family, Dually; Tom Shields and Kit; Newcastle West G.A.A.; Newcastle West Parish Hall Committee; the Courtney Players, Newcastle West.

Telegrams:—Rev. Simon Histon, C.C., South America (brother-in-law); Mrs. Ita Appleby; Josie and Jack; Ryan, Glin; N. Phelan, Gorey; Fitzgerald family, Croachane, Shanagolden; Moss and family, Cork; Brother Joseph and Mary, Dublin; John and Ann, Scotstown; Breeda, Dublin; May, Dublin; Kitty Curtin, Dublin; Biddy, Dublin; Molly Lynch, Dublin; Joe and Kathleen Harford, Swords; Nora Lenihan, Bedford; Winifred Nash, Tramore; Jackie Fitzgerald, Galway.

Letters:—Nell Griffin, Cheshire; Joan Dalton, West Bromwich; Bridie Danaher, Dublin; auntie, West Kirby; G. Casey, Strabane; Mrs. Molly O'Carroll, Glencree, Kildare; Mrs. Lavan, Rockbarrow, Galway; Mrs. Donoghue, Ballybough Road, Dublin; Agnes Brouder, Limerick; Mrs. Ted Harrahan, do.; Eileen Vaughan, England; Joan Buckley, Limerick; Mrs. B. Tanerod, Clontarf; Mrs. K. Dore, Mount Merrion, Dublin; Sister M. Alphonsus, Bromford; Sister M. Enda, S. Africa; Sister M. Helen, St. Catherine's, Convent, etc., etc.

MISS ROSALEEN DOOHAN

The death took place in Limerick on the 27th November of Rosaleen, darling daughter of John and Bridie Dohan, "Kincora," Glenmore Ave., Roxboro' Road. The funeral took place on the following Wednesday from Our Lady Queen of Peace Church to Mount St. Lawrence Cemetery.

The attending clergy were:—Very Rev. Father Brassill, P.P.; Rev. Father Wall, C.C.; Rev. Father Naughton, S.J.

The chief mourners were:—Mr. and Mrs. J. Dohan (parents), Peggy and Philomena (sisters) and John (brother).

Mass cards were sent by:—Mam and dad; Peggy and Pat; Philomena and John; Paddy and Birdie Fitzpatrick; Jim and Nellie Fitzpatrick; Mary and Ger. Shannon; Aunt Kate, Kitty and Dolly; May and Alph McDonagh; Mallen family; Pat and May O'Brien; Mungret; Godmother Mrs. D. McNulty; Dr. and Mrs. J. Holmer; Joe Barry; O'Brien family; the patients, St. Rose's Ward; Luke and Lill Larkin; Dr. Frank and Alleen Crowe; Paddy and Kathleen O'Brien; The Staff; Frank Lyddy; Vera and Una McNulty; Annette, Marie, Kathleen, Marie, Evelyn,

DAIRY FARMERS PATRON

Creamery Managers And I.C.M.S.A.

Greatness

HIS WON MOR

Lecture In T

(To the Editor, "Limerick Leader.")

Dear Mr. Editor—I would be very grateful if you would find space in your widely read paper for the following: The first annual general meeting of the I.C.M.S.A. was held in Limerick recently. I am a member and I would like to know if 'his Association is for any other purpose only for securing a better price for milk. I became a member because I was led to believe that along with securing a better price for milk this Association would try to rectify any grievances which creamery suppliers may have, but I didn't read anything' to that effect in the report of the general meeting.

I would like to congratulate Mr. P. Ryan for objecting to Creamery Managers being on the committee of this Association, and I think all members should object for the following reasons:—Creamery Managers are not qualified for membership, due to the fact that they are not suppliers. Is it in our interests that the Managers are really interested? My opinion is no. It will be a bad day's work for the farmers when these gentlemen are elected to the committee. It will show the farmers up in a very poor light, and that we are not able to run our Association without them.

Not alone that, when the Managers get hold of the Association it is only a matter of time when they will control it and run it for their own benefit under the name of the I.C.M.S.A.

THE I.A.W.S. is supposed to be a farmers' Association, each Creamery paying a big membership fee every year. Creameries are supposed to be represented at the general meeting each year by farmers. Now who represents the Creameries and who speaks most at these meetings? A big number of Creameries that I know are represented by the Managers only. I have made inquiries to know if this matter is ever discussed at Committee meetings and in a number of cases no; the Manager takes it on his own to represent that Creamery at the general meeting, and visits the Spring Show for a week at the suppliers' expense. Farmers, that will happen also to this new Association if the farmers leave control out of their hands. The Creamery Managers have an Association of their own and that should be enough for them. If we, farmers, applied for membership to the Creamery Managers' Association would we be accepted?

The Chairman of the Association, Mr. C. H. Fletcher, said that "he would deplore any attacks on the Creamery Managers, who were an excellent body of men." Dairy farmers, in case you don't know it, this excellent body of men are not anyway slow to throw the weight of their Association on a section of our farmers and to try and close the door of one of our Creameries here in East Limerick, just because the committee don't want to do something that the Creamery Managers' Association told them to do.

What has Mr. Fletcher to say to that? Can the Managers' Association deny that?

Young farmers, your fathers built the Creameries and put money into them; take an interest in them, and see that they are managed as they should be—not the way the Managers will say.

I expect somebody will reply to this letter, and the first thing that will be said, is:—I hadn't the courage to put my name to it. I know where the boot leans on me; if I have one grievance to day I may have half-a-dozen this day week.

Thanking you again, Mr. Editor, "CREAMERY SUPPLIER."

SEVERAL INCHES OF SNOW

HEAVY FALL IN WEST LIMERICK

West Limerick was swept during the week-end by one of the most severe snow storms experienced for many years. Following a day of heavy gales on Saturday, snow began to fall late on Saturday evening and by Sunday morning the whole countryside was covered to a depth of several inches. Conditions were greatly eased during the day, however, by a thaw which made the roads reasonably passable. On Sunday evening snow fell again on a heavier scale than ever and Arctic-like conditions prevailed in most districts on Monday morning.

Following further frost and another snow fall on Monday night conditions generally were rendered still more acute throughout the area and on Tuesday transport services were only maintained under exceptional difficulties. By Tuesday evening the position had reached a particularly acute stage in Newcastle West and district.

John, Mary, Emer and Patsy; Father James Torney, S.J.; Kieran Dunden; J. B. Lador; Barry family, Southill; Mrs. B. Kelly; Thomas and May O'Neill and family; O'Leary family, Garryowen; John Griffin and Joan O'Connor; May and Rita Clancy; Mrs. P. Woodhouse and family; Molly and John O'Leary; the Farrell family; A. Leddin; Mr. and Mrs. Carney and family; Mr. and Mrs. Finn; Delia O'Keefe; the Ahearne family; Mr. and Mrs. Sexton; the Micks family; the Arnold family and Mrs. O'Mara; the Madigan and Byrne families; the Tierney family; Michael and Mary Minihan. Wreaths:—Mum and dad; Mr. and Mrs. P. Finucane and family; Mr. and Mrs. Ignatius Finucane; Vin Mangan; Mr. and Mrs. T. O'Dowd; May, Micks; Walter Farrell.

Telegram and letters of sympathy:—May and Michael Brennan, Dublin; Tony Finucane, Dublin; Pat O'Shea, Cork; Mr. and Mrs. Dillon, Dublin; William Slattery, Herbertstown; The Superiress, Convent of Mercy, Birr; Brian and Josie Geary, Foynes; Theresa Broderick; Rev. Father James Torney, S.J.; Mrs. N. Conheady, Dublin; Sister M. Felicitas, Convent of Mercy, Limerick; Mr. M. Finucane, Carrigarron; Carmel Holmes, Dublin; Luke and Lill Larkin; Mrs. Shandley; Mrs. B. Purtell; Mrs. E. Grey, Dublin; Mrs. M. O'Donnell, Ballybricken.

The parents wish to extend their most grateful thanks to all who attended the house, Church and funeral.

THE greatness of St. Liguori, founder of the Theatiner Order, was the most interesting and enlightening course delivered in St. Alphonsus Church, Limerick, on Sunday night last by Father Murphy, C.S.S.R. This was the second of a special course of lectures arranged for the parish Church in connection with the formal proclamation that the Pope of St. Alphonsus is the Heavenly Patron before the face of God of all professors of the Theology.

Father Murphy began his lecture by pointing out the importance to dispositions for the Sacraments of Confession and Holy Communion, telling of a position which existed in connection with the Church in a little town near Limerick some years ago by the then rector of the Congregation of the Redeemer. He then went on to say that St. Alphonsus saw that the only way to save the souls of the people must be done. A middle course was found between laxity and severity. Each of the three courses of moral problems that touch human life must be studied in the light of God's revelation in the Holy Scriptures, and of the moral tradition, and of the moral teaching of the Church. Solutions must be found which would neither infringe the rights of God nor put too heavy a burden on human nature.

A MONUMENTAL

He sat down to the task of writing that book, and in forty years he worked, and his labour was a book of nearly a thousand pages. Nine times during his life he published new editions of that book. To-day it has the title of Patron of the Theology and of Moral Theology. Eighty years ago it was the title of Doctor of the Church.

Dear brethren, what a work and study St. Alphonsus put into that book! Before he wrote it he had to study the law of the Church, the pronouncements of the popes, all the moral teaching of the Church. It has been said that the Moral Theology of St. Alphonsus contains 80,000 questions from more than 800 authors.

Then consider the mere writing. Most of us would shrink from reading a book of a hundred words a minute. St. Alphonsus wrote his book at a rate of a hundred words a minute. He wrote with his quill pen, and his hands were too cold to hold the pen. He used to place a piece of hot iron that he placed beside him. When it was warm enough to hold it he began to write again.

NEVER WASTED A MOMENT

And we mustn't think that St. Alphonsus just sat at his desk studying and writing, during those forty years. For time he was a busy man, preaching missions all over Italy. For 13 years he was bishop of a diocese; and for 13 years he was Superior of the Theatiner Order, writing its rules and directing its activities, and defending it against attacks. He himself said that his book on Moral Theology was the work of his spare time. How he could have done it is hard to see. The explanation lies in a heroic determination never to waste a minute. Certainly that time was never wasted that gave to the world that book that has done so much good.

And it is true, brethren, that St. Alphonsus' busy life as a missionary, a bishop and a superior made him a great theologian, and a great guide for priests in their work with souls. It gave him the experience of the work of a professor; it gave him a chance to put his views and decisions into practice, how they would affect the souls. And, if he found any errors which seemed serious, he would not hesitate to change them.

Restful

There's no need to have restless nights because of indigestion. 'Milk of Magnesia' is your old friend of many days, taken just before bedtime will ease you almost before you're in bed. As a restful sleep, the sheets. As a restful undisturbed right to

For C

of a 'good' a bottle to-day and ke

'Milk of Magnesia'

Large size 2/6

PROTECT TEETH FROM MOUTH

