FACTS AND FANCIES.

BAGPIPES. The "pipes" are always associated with the Scottish Highlands, but the fact remains that the Scottish Highlands were the last place on the skirts of civilised Europe to make acquaintance with the instrument.

A WHISTLING TREE. Among the curiosities of tree life in the solar, or whistling tree, of Nubia. When the wind blows over this tree it gives out flute-like sounds, playing all day to the wilderness for hours at a time.

MEDIEVAL ARMOUR SMALL. It is often asked, why does ancient British armour still existing seem so small compared with the size of men of the present day?

HOBSON'S CHOICE. Tobias Hobson was the first man in England to let out hackney horses. It was his custom when a man came for a horse to take him to the stable, where there was a good choice, but the man was always obliged to take the horse which stood next to the door.

THE GIANT GROTTOS. The immense cavern bearing this name is situated near Trieste, Austria, and is said to be the largest known to exist. It consists of one vast chamber 750 ft. long, 433 ft. broad, and 432 ft. high.

SIAMSESE ENGLISH. What about this advertisement from a Siamese paper? asks the Morning Post. The news of English, we tell the latest. Write in perfectly style and most courteous. Do a murder get even with me, and I will do it.

OLDEST TEMPERANCE LECTURE. There is still in existence an Egyptian papyrus on which some 3,500 years before the Christian era, which contains the following caution: "My son, do not linger in the wine shop or drink too much wine."

"GOOGLY." The following description of a "googly" is given in Mr. P. B. Warner's revised edition of "Cricket" in the Dominion Library (Longmans): "A 'googly' is merely a leg break bowled with a drop of the wrist, which allows the ball to come out of the back of the hand."

THE CHINESE WALL. Of all survivals of ancient civilisations this is the most famous and the most wonderful. In cataloguing the wonders of the world it has never been possible to omit the Chinese Wall. It was 200 years old when it came to earth, but even then it was not the work of a young nation, for China has a history that can be traced back for 6,000 years.

SOME HAUSA PROVERBS. Better repair than rebuild. Chattering doesn't cook the rice. The blind man says the eye has a bad smell. Doing mischief is pleasanter than mending it.

Cuticura Girls Are Sweet and Dainty. Nothing so healthy, clear complexion, soft, white hands, and glossy hair as Cuticura. It is the only skin treatment that is safe and sure.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

"Does that girl know anything about manouring?" "Well, I believe she used to work in a mill factory." "Hicks: 'She married in haste.' Wicks: 'And repented in haste, too.'"

Magistrate: "The police say that you and your wife had some words." Prisoner: "I had some, but I didn't get a chance to use them."

Mr. Higgleback: "Really shame to keep such a pretty bird in a cage." His Young Wife: "Yes, it is. How perfectly ducky it would look on 'at.'"

Doctor: "Did that cure for deafness really help your brother?" Pat: "Sure enough; he hadn't heard a sound for years, and the day after he took that medicine he heard from a friend in America."

The Old Un: "Thank my boy, plock, first and last; that is the one I should be in business." The Young Un: "Oh, of course, I quite understand that. The trouble is finding someone to pluck."

Shop Assistant: "Here are some very fine green suspender-belts just got in, medium size." "Newrich: "No, I don't think they're much use to us. Our cook's such a poor hand at making suspenders, isn't she, 'Erbert?"

Lecturer (who was lecturing on teetotalism): "If I had my way, I'd get all the beer and spirits in this country and sink them in the sea." "Voice from audience: 'Hear, hear.'"

Bachelor: "Before the wedding you told me that married life would be a grand, grand thing. Now, however, you are a married man, and since then I've found one grand, sweet refrain." Bachelor: "Refrain?" Benedict: "Yes. My wife insists that I refrain from cards, refrain from smoking, and refrain from snoring."

Four men were discussing the size of some vegetables they had grown on their allotments. The first remarked: "I've raised a potato that was so large I had to build a special copper to boil it in."

CORRY'S Original Tobacco Lice Powder. For Lice and all Skin troubles in Cattle, Horses, Pigs, &c., for preventing Fly on Sheep and Warble Fly in Cattle, also for Fleas, &c., on Dogs, Cats, &c. POLITY and their nests. NON-POISONOUS. Approved by Board of Agriculture.
