SECOND FLOOR—Five bedrooms off landing, bathroom, w.c. on landing, bedroom housemaid's pantry with wash-up basin.

ATTIC—Apartments for twelve complete seven good living rooms. Back winding stairs connecting with the kitchen, bathroom, w.c., and small room on landing.

BASMENT—Large kitchen with range and scullery (tiles), outside scullery, larder, storeroom, spare room, beer cellar, off which there is the wine cellar; pantry on corridor, butler's bedroom, book room.

The reception rooms and bedrooms are spacious, lofty, and well lighted. The domestic offices are entered from the kitchen, leading to a paved yard, and access of outside w.c., shed in inner yard, four houses. They are enclosed by high wall; four front areas, flagged with oilier, asphalt house. The portion of the premises is approached by stone staircase and iron gate and side of house.

On right hand side as one enters the residence there is a stable, which contains harness room, two box stalls, and four standing stalls with metal pillars, latching overhead; double door coach-house and coachman's apartments.

The back portion, which is used as Pleasure Grounds, can be approached from the house by stone staircase with porch. These grounds are very spacious, with a depth of 190 ft 6 in. more or less, and a frontage on the river on Bishop's Quay of 190 ft 6 in. more or less, surrounded by high wall, making them private and pleasant. They present an exceptionally fine space for building or as a basis of provision for business requirements, with frontage to the river; there is a terraced walk and overlooking the river.

The residence is a substantial and well built structure in tenable order. It affords exceptional accommodation for purposes where space is required, and in this respect presents particular advantages as a commercial concern, as it has a most imposing appearance, with a fine frontage to Henry-street of 190 ft 6 in. more or less, with a wide open paved space between the fronts of the house and the highway. As a business concern the premises are unique, as besides the facilities offered they occupy an excellent position and central position close to the Post Office and Bank, and with easy access to the Railway, while they are the frontage of the property as a whole for a residence of present premises or would make most desirable sites for warehouses on the wharf. It is rarely that such well situated and commodious premises are placed upon the market.

LOT 2.—The plots of ground now used as a garden, adjoining Lot 1, with frontage to Henry Street of 60 ft 2 in. or thereabouts, and depth fronting Bishop's Quay of 97 ft 4 in. or thereabouts. A corner plot, rectangular in shape. An exceptionally desirable site for a business establishment.

MR STEPHEN GWYNN

TWO FATALLY SHOT IN EAST LIMERICK

ON DE VALERA'S REPORTED ARRIVAL

"New Year's Day brings," says Mr Stephen Gwynn in the "Observer," "a message of as least possible good to Ireland. Mr de Valera's arrival affects the situation profoundly. His steps dramatically out with real courage into a post of appalling difficulty and danger, in which every man's shoulder will be called upon to support. It would be well for the Government to do other than leave this man to do as he likes to do for himself. His coming just means one of two things. Either it will give a new character to the Limerick campaign in arms, which may only shorten the agony, and may possibly intensify some of the cruelties of the war, or, ten times more likely, it will open negotiations for a settlement directed from the British side by the only man who has the position which may enable him to take vital decisions. To Ireland's counsel he will bring a knowledge of the facts far as to military and political facts which I believe to be an essential need for its settlement. The greatest difficulty," continues Mr Gwynn, "which lies across his path is the question of amnesty. I believe that on this matter will be the best judges. They know that on both sides of this quarrel there is need for an act of oblivion. The British Ministry of War, in its anxiety to get the peace, will be ready to do what any man lives to-day whose punishment is not necessary that in order to procure the Government should sacrifice the chance of peace."

SALE OF BAD EGGS

Stiff Fine at Enniskillen

At Enniskillen Petty Sessions, Mr J Walker, R.M., presiding, a man was charged by Wm Wilson, Police constable, Enniskillen, with selling a quantity of bad eggs to the effect of six or seven hundred eggs on the 23rd October to Mr H Smith, egg merchant, Enniskillen. Mr W P Maguire (Messrs Maguire and Herberts, solicitors), appeared for plaintiff, and Mr H. W. Wainman, solicitor, represented defendant. Mr W P Maguire said the Department of Agriculture was very anxious to get up the standard of eggs as they were one of the chief exports of the country. The Department had, therefore, sent down an inspector, who accompanied Mr Wilson to Mr Smith's stores. There they found six cases of eggs brought by the defendant to the store for sale, and in the six cases they discovered 540 bad eggs unfit for sale. Mr T J O'Connor, the Department Inspector, said he examined the eggs in question with a testing apparatus and found 400 rotten, while the remainder were stale and doubtful. In his opinion the eggs would be about six weeks old, and as the price of eggs was going up at the time, the defendant was to hold them till the price reached a maximum. Mr Wainman admitted the eggs were stale. Mr Smith, he said, had not tested the eggs before the inspector arrived, and, therefore, could not tell whether they were good or bad. His client would lose completely over the transaction, as he would lose the price of the eggs. Mr Francis Lunny, a packer in the employment of Mr Smith, said all eggs were being packed by Mr Smith before being paid for; they were going under this process of being tested when the inspector arrived; they possessed an apparatus for testing eggs. Defendants were fined 25 and costs.

Twenty Happy Years.

The genial well-wisher depicted here is Mr J Hodges, of 27, Harding Street, Swindon. "I recommend Doan's Backache Kidney Pills because I owe him twenty years of first rate health to their having cured my retention twenty years ago," said Mr Hodges on 18th April, 1919. On 21st August, 1899, Mr Hodges said:—"When retention first set in I thought myself perished. My right leg became quite useless, and the pains which darted down from hip to heel were high unbearable. My back, too, ached incessantly—and there was attendant urinary trouble, gravel and inflammation. I was kept from my work for days at a time, and tried many treatments before finding hope of success. Nothing did good until I had Doan's Backache Kidney Pills. These Pills really cured me. They cooled the urinary channels, relieved me of gravel, restored comfort to my back—and by the end of the month, they had rid me of retention absolutely. I never felt more fit than now."

Don't ask for kidney pills or headache pills. Insist upon DOAN'S Backache Kidney Pills. The kidney, medicine Mr Hodges recommends. All dealers, or 2s 6d a box from Foster-McClellan Co., 8, Wells Street, Oxford Street, London, W.1.

SURRENDER OF UNIFORMS

We have received the following for publication:—"In amplification of the previous notice referring to the surrendering of uniforms, which appeared in this paper on the 29th and 31st December and the 2nd of January, the following is issued as a guide, as it is impossible to legislate for every case or to answer the many enquiries which have been made on this subject. The uniforms referred to in the above quoted notice are any uniform which could be used by rebels as a disguise to cover their identity. Obsolete articles, such as cocked hats and other articles which could not possibly be made use of as disguises, do not come within the meaning of the order. Uniforms so ordered must be surrendered to the nearest military detachment, and in no case will it be possible to collect same."

RED CROSS CAR

A Press Association Dublin message says:—"Dublin Castle reports that a military Red Cross car broke down at Oranmore, County Clere, a few days ago, and was left by the driver, who went to Limerick for assistance. The car was afterwards found damaged by fire."

FACTORS FOR PEACE NEED FOR SETTLEMENT From England's Standpoint

Matter of "Hard Business Self-Interest"

Interesting Article by Mr Sydney Brooks

Mr Sydney Brooks, the well-known English publicist, writing in the "Sunday Times," says:—"There are a dozen reasons of humanity, of political decency, of domestic and international policy, why an Irish settlement is supremely desirable; and all these reasons had their proper place in popular and Parliamentary discussion of the problem. But their urgency is greatly reinforced by another set of considerations which are rarely mentioned and altogether omitted in Great Britain's self-interest—on the question of hard business self-interest."

Double Tragedy Near Ballylanders

It is reported officially that David Tobin and Thomas Murphy, of the Ballylanders district, of Co. Limerick, were shot fatally on Saturday afternoon while endeavouring to escape from custody. Tobin, says the report, was found to be armed with a revolver loaded with dum-dum bullets. A Tipperary correspondent writes:—"The dead bodies of David Tobin and Thomas Murphy, who, according to the official reports, were shot while trying to escape from the military in Ballylanders district, County Limerick, on Saturday, have been brought to Tipperary. The bodies, it is stated, were about 2.30 in the afternoon, a party of military from Tipperary, some being in a lorry through Ballylanders, saw the bodies lying on the ground. As the lorry approached the house of Mrs Tobin, a widow, her son, David, and Thomas Murphy, who were inside, ran out. The latter, it is stated, ordered the military to halt, but they continued to run. The military fired, and both men were hit. Murphy fell, but Tobin, managed to get away. The military, according to the report, fired at Murphy, and he was brought to Tipperary on a stretcher. The military also fired at a neighbouring cottage. The military also fired at a neighbouring cottage. The military also fired at a neighbouring cottage."

ARCHBISHOP CLUNE'S PART IN IRISH PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

Interesting Story From Galway In a message, dated Galway, Monday, the "Daily News" correspondent says:—"A remarkable story has reached me this evening which, if true, shows how a vital part was played by the Archbishop of Dublin in the negotiations for peace. It gives a look into all the negotiations which it comes to me to believe it is not a substantial gain of fact in regard to the second history of recent negotiations for an Irish truce, negotiations which the Dublin press appear to be anxious to renege with that history. The Archbishop of Dublin is to remain the intermediary in the following negotiations. After the failure of recent negotiations, Dr Clune, apparently realising that no useful purpose could be served by continuing his efforts, applied for his passport in order that he might return to Australia. I am told that this information was immediately conveyed to Mr Lloyd George, who sees great value for the Archbishop. The Premier said that in effect:—"You will not get any passport for the present. Go back to Ireland and continue the good work you are doing." The previous efforts of the Archbishop had brought Ireland nearer a peace than most people are inclined to believe. The Archbishop has been able to have a number of confidential negotiations. All the available members of both Houses have been summoned to a conference so that they may be at hand in case a conference is deemed necessary or desirable. Important developments are foreseeable within a few days, and the Archbishop's information adds that if further negotiations are considered desirable it is likely that they will assume a more authoritative and official character."

TRAINING FOR WIDOWS

The Secretary of the Ministry of Labour announced that, although the closing date for applications for training for the widows was fixed as 15th October, 1920, it has been decided that for the present, in order to avoid hardship, this limitation shall not apply in cases of recent bereavement. Such applications will still be considered if made by the widow within a year of the death of her husband, or not later than 31st January, 1921, in those cases where death occurred between 15th October, 1919, and 31st December, 1919. Training may be given to such widows as are in receipt of a minimum pension under Article 11 of the Royal Warrant, or of an alternative pension under Article 12. Such training is intended to assist the widow in rendering her efficient in a remunerative occupation when it is necessary in her own interests or that of her children to add to her pension or other income. In addition to free training a small allowance because her pension is made in special cases to meet extra liabilities. A suitable grant is also made towards the expense of necessary uniform, equipment, or books. The training of the widows and dependants of deceased officers will also be continued when the case enables similar conditions. Application should be made to Ministry of Labour, Irish Department, Lord Edward Street, Dublin.

NEW MILK FROM HOLLAND

The Leland Shipping Co's steamers arriving at Folkestone Harbour are landing an enormous amount of foodstuffs for London markets, including pork, mutton, and veal. An interesting feature in the arrival of new milk, on one day alone last week, over 300 cases were landed and "expressed" in London. This milk is said to be retailed in Holland at 4d per quart against 11d and 1s per quart in England.

Death of Mr James W Joyce, Kilmallock

The announcement of the death of Mr James W Joyce, who took place on Sunday at Kilmallock, will occasion deep and widespread regret amongst his numerous friends and the general public. Mr Joyce was a highly respected and distinguished official, fully qualified to carry out the duties of his office, which he performed faithfully and well. In the old days the late Mr Joyce was a staunch supporter of the Nationalist Party, and he was one of those who suffered imprisonment in Kilmallock Jail during the Lord League days. STUDENT'S DEATH

A boy named John Lawlor, a student at All Hallows, a son of Mr David Lawlor, Convent Street, Limerick, died on Saturday night from rupture of the brain, the result, it is alleged, of ill-treatment by untrained men the previous evening. Deceased was prayed for at the Masses on Sunday, and the deep sympathy of the clergy and congregation expressed. The disease was very popular, and highly esteemed by all.

TYLERS and the public. An Announcement which affects You!

WHEN Leather Prices soared and boots were difficult to procure, TYLERS did not flinch, but positively refused to alter their fixed stamped prices on goods in stock. Consequently they were selling at old prices right up to the last moment—until advances were absolutely necessary. That was keeping faith with the public!

NOW, purchasers are again assured of "the Straight Deal" by a Genuine Marking Down of STOCK to meet the fall in values. TYLERS could have bought men's boots, for instance, round about 12/- or 14/- a pair specially for a so-called Cheap Sale, and sold them at a big profit. That would NOT be keeping faith with the public; neither is it the Tyler way. TYLERS believe their public appreciates quality first, and therefore they prefer to give them the advantage of the fall in leather values by reducing actual stock to bargain prices to clear. Know what you are buying, and buy now—prices are as low as they ever will be again. TYLERS boots are stamped on soles with the selling price before they leave the factory. You can easily verify the reductions yourself.

COURTESY THAT PAID LOAN OF $200,000, AMERICA HELPING GERMANY

At present (says the "Catholic") a great loan is being engineered in America to help Germany. The loan amounts to about $200,000,000. It is to promote the welfare of Germany and to help the distressed conditions in America itself. The loan was going on, a body called the Finance Corporation was formed to help American firms which would give long credit. Abolished armistice, it has been re-organized, capital of 1,000,000,000 dollars, to American exportation to Germany. The corporation gave power to the Finance Corporation to issue bonds of 1,000,000,000 dollars, in fact, a loan. Why the whole scheme is sponsored by the bankers, the grocers, and the farmers, will be when it is realized that Germany was the biggest post-war customer in the States markets. The effect of this movement is the economic relief of Germany, the United States, and to make it an interest to reduce Germany's indebtedness to the limit. It will also be a record for the two countries, and in time England and Japan will closely follow.

Abbeylea Funeral Incident

The funeral of Mr James Hickey (51), draper's assistant, at Abbeylea, Knocknaglogh, who took his life as a Tipperary while in custody, took place in Dyrsk, Abbeylea, on Saturday. The remains were brought to Abbeylea Parish Church, and after solemn Requiem Mass the coffin, draped in black, was borne on the shoulders of a number of young men for a distance outside the town. On passing the barracks an auxiliary constable seized the coffin and demanded the pall, which was subsequently handed over to the relatives. The funeral was of very large dimensions, and many expressions of condolence were conveyed to the relatives. A number of beautiful wreaths were placed on the grave.

GOLD RING IN CODFISH

A remarkable find of a gentleman's ring in the stomach of a codfish was made by a workman at Banerana, while Friday's catch was being gutted for the English market. It was a plain gold signet ring, and was quite bright and unaltered. Presumably it belonged to one of the victims of the many shipping disasters which occurred off the coast during the war. The finder has refused several substantial offers for it.
