METER FEW YEARS LIMERICK EXILE'S IMPRESSIONS

OF THE NEW "OLD LAND"

Recently there returned to the United States a distinguished Limerick exile in the person of Mr. Thomas A. Welles, who had been on a social visit to his native land for the first time since he left Ireland over fifty years ago. Mr. Welles, who earlier on an extensive, high-class, and lucrative business as building contractor in New York, was only in the early thirties when he betook himself to the land of the "Shars and Stripes". Young as he was at the time, however, he had, before his departure, taken an active part in the Irish movement, and was ordained in the rising of '67. On that point his natural modesty allows him to speak only sparingly, but it is known all over the world that he was in the "Red" and that he was not only a red but a brave one. He was, however, not in the ranks of the "Reds" but in the ranks of the "Whites". He was, however, not in the ranks of the "Whites" but in the ranks of the "Whites". He was, however, not in the ranks of the "Whites" but in the ranks of the "Whites".

In submitting to the Shareholders a Statement of the position as at 31st December, 1920, the Directors desire to make the following Report as to the progress of the Bank to that date.

While the period covered by the accounts is less than a year, during which period the work of organization had to be carried out, the position shown in these accounts must give satisfaction to the Shareholders.

The special attention of the Board and the Management has been directed to the development of the General Banking Business, which, in the latter portion of the year, 1920, showed remarkable expansion. Branches have since been opened in Waterford, Kinsale, Athlone, and Roscommon, and premises have been acquired in College Green, Dublin; Cork; Limerick, and Tralee, which will shortly be opened for business.

In addition, loans have been made for the purchase of a total of 9,350 acres of Land, of which 7,000 have been fully paid for, the balance, representing uncompleted transactions, awaiting completion of Legal Formalities.
