Cattle Embargo Relaxed

Relaxations in the embargo on the admission of Irish cattle into Great Britain were announced on Monday evening. An adjourned conference on the question was held at the Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries in London on Monday. The Ministry have decided to make an order admitting for slaughter within 72 hours in the various places at Merkinch and Thurston, next (Friday). The admission of cattle into Great Britain is being deferred for a few days until the disinfection operations there are completed.

An announcement as to the admission of stores into Great Britain will probably be made in the course of a day or two.

MR. HENRY'S MISTAKE

Mr Henry, replying to a question in the House of Commons, referred to the shooting of Mrs Ryan, Abbeyfeale. No such lady, writes our correspondent, was shot at Abbeyfeale.

SHARP CONTRAST

Written on the question of American coal for Ireland, the "Irish Times" says:—During an average week the British coal producer exports about four tons of coal and receives 22/6 on the other hand, the American miner realizes 27/6 in wages, but he produces no less than twenty tons of coal a week.

FUTURE OF BRITISH MINES

Borrow Town Council on Monday passed a resolution calling upon the Government to take over mines and work them in the interests of the nation.

DECLINES RE-ELECTION

Mr James O'Mara, TD for South Kerry, has announced from Chicago to the "Kerryman" saying:—I would express my gratitude to the electors for the opportunity they have provided me with to serve Ireland, but circumstances imperatively require my candidature again or accepting it if elected.

FIGHT LASTING FIVE HOURS

SIX REPUBLICANS REPORTED KILLED

And Fourteen Wounded

Sharp Encounter Near Knocklong

News reached Limerick yesterday that a sharp encounter between Crown forces and members of the I.R.A. took place on Monday afternoon at Knocklong, between Enly and Knocklong. The fight, it is said, lasted five hours, and the official version is that five republicans were killed and fourteen wounded, and that the military casualties were only two soldiers wounded.

A report from Tipperary gives the following version of what occurred:—

A four-hour battle took place on Monday afternoon between a party of the Yorkshire Regiment and a party of the I.R.A. at Knocklong, near Enly and Knocklong. The military version of the affair is that they were attacked by the Republicans at Knocklong, where two of the Yorks were wounded. The military, returning the fire, claim to have killed five Republicans and wounded about a dozen others. The military placed the five dead bodies on a cart, and the two wounded soldiers on another, and was removing them further on, when they were attacked by a fresh party of Republicans, who came within the cart with their five dead comrades. The military also left behind the cart on which the two wounded Yorks were, but succeeded in bringing away the men themselves. The military were compelled to fight a second battle with the Republicans, who were attacking with their five dead comrades. The military also left behind the cart on which the two wounded Yorks were, but succeeded in bringing away the men themselves.

SING AND TRAGEDY

Military Inquiry Held

How Henry Clancy Met His Death

At the New Barracks, Limerick, yesterday, a military inquiry was held into the circumstances of the death of Henry Clancy, a railway labourer, who was killed on Sunday afternoon near Knocklong.

A civilian witness was the first examined and said he knew the deceased, who resided at Knocklong, and was a labourer on the permanent way at the G. & N.W.R. station. He last saw him alive on Sunday at 3 p.m.; he was 21 years of age and unmarried; he next saw him in the morgue in the military hospital, New Barracks, that morning and identified his dead body; he was an ex-serviceman who had fought in Italy and France in the Royal Warwickshire Regiment during the war; witness did not know if he had any connection with the I.R.A.; he used to leave home every Monday morning and return on different days from his work—for the week-ends.

Clancy was stated that he was with a party of police who left William street R.I.C. Barracks at 8.15 p.m. on Sunday night to two Crossley tenders and accompanied by an armoured car, when approaching Singland railway bridge, on the main road from Limerick, he observed a man running from the bridge on the railway and from the road under the bridge; on the left-hand side to which the man ran, there are a number of cottages; this is on the north side of the road and the Limerick side of the bridge; some of the man went behind the cottages and the railway line; a good many people, including women and children, were about; witness had the cottages surrounded and fire was opened on the police and the police returned the fire—the fire was opened by the parties present; he saw one man definitely fire—and this came from behind the cottages; as the police were circulating two of the fugitives the police were fired on and the police fired in return; two men surrendered, but before doing so he saw each of them throw a revolver into a bush; these were afterwards produced to witness as he was going up to the prisoners; witness saw the man throw a revolver into a bush; both were service revolvers, one was fully loaded and the other had five live cartridges and one empty one; witness took both prisoners to a tender on the road and handed them over to another police official, and then proceeded to search the man who had been the fugitive; there was then a number of people on the road returning to the city; these included women and children, and there were perambulators; he saw the deceased running among the people, and this would be within a couple of minutes after he had been put in the tender; he was running in the direction of the bridge; he was running upon to the left and did not do so; the police opened fire; witness saw him fall, and when he reached him found that he was in a dying condition; he lived only a few minutes; they conveyed the body to the barracks.

Another police witness, who was one of the party, stated that he saw the deceased running among the people, and this would be within a couple of minutes after he had been put in the tender; he was running in the direction of the bridge; he was running upon to the left and did not do so; the police opened fire; witness saw him fall, and when he reached him found that he was in a dying condition; he lived only a few minutes; they conveyed the body to the barracks.
