LIMERICK CITIZENS

THE TREATY

IMPORTANT MEETING TO-DAY

VIEWS OF MR. STEPHEN O'MARA

Telling Arguments for Ratifica-

A meeting of the representatives of the citi se 's of Limerick, commercial and professional, was bed in the Chamber of Commerce to-day under the apoptoes of the members of that Obsmber. The meeting was specially sum maned "to consider the proposed Treaty between England and Ireiana so greatly facting the commerce of the country." The meeting was largely attended, and included prominens oldizone in the industrial, commercial, legal, medical and engineering life of the olly, and Mr George A Ryan, O E presided. There were a number of ladies in assendance.

Amongst shose plso present were. Wise Madge Daly, Dr Evirena M. sst, Sir A W Shaw. G E G odbody, J P Goodwork, M D Shaw, J J Quald, County Beerstary; T H Brath, Manager Munacer and Leinster Bank ; P J Googhegan, P O Cleave, M J Russell, J A Connell, Secre tary, Mesers Speight : E J Long, R Brabe zon, L O'B Kelly, B L ; J F Harley, Managor of Mesers Olune's ; O.posin Erle Sasw, HO; M Gough, BO; J Haipin, James Quin, Vicepresident Employers' Federation ; M Egan, James Dorie, A M latyre, Aylmer Ulcave, R J Fahy, J H Boone, ere.

The Chairman ventured to cay that so more fateful gathering had ever assembled within the walls of that Cham er than has over | Rontporthy Improved from 1, 81 to 2s per lb. which he was then privileged to preside. That In Corn, which was the cheepest market, prices meeting was universally representative, which was only as is about the in view of the fact that the subject which would be discussed was one in which the future and happiness of the sountry depended (hear, hear). He asked for a fall and free expression of apialon so that any decialan they arrived at won'd go forth to the oil area of Limerick as the considered prononocomene of the nommarelyl, prof salout! and other members of the community. The large gashering manifested to him die anxiety which the civisons fall as regarded the sciusion of that vital question at this mementone orlice which she soundly had now reached thear,

Among letters of apology for non attendance read by Mr John F Power, Hon See to the mosting, was one from Mr Archibald Marray in which he expressed the hope that the ratif. cation of the Treaty would be the beginning of "a long period of peace during which, by friendly insercourse, ensemprise and hard work, we may be all able to assist in astabliching the general peace and goodwill and prosperly of our native land."

Mr Wm Holliday also belephoned regretting inability to attend, and Mc Ryorofa's absence was exoneed on his behalf. A communication was read from the Limerick Trades and Labour Cospell acknowledging receipt of the invitation to the meating, but as mp to the present they had had no opportunity to determine the feelings of organised tabour on the matter, they regrested they would not be able to attend the marring. Mr E G Fish wrote that he could not be presons, but that he was in favour of the object of the meeting.

Mr Stephen O'Mara said some people in Italand, even those in favour of the Treaty. apologised for its acceptance, but he wou'd make no such apology because he looked on the Treasy as containing the essence—the very essenceof freedom (hear, hear). It gave them control of their finances, freedom of the seas, f sedom of brade, and freedom to do what they liked with shelr own money. The bane of this country had always been that their money, their business and commercial seasus had been regnissed by the enemy Niw the sime was passing and they stood that day on the verge of freedom - freedom in every sense of the word, freedom pel slosly, freed m religious y. and freedem comprereally and financially Was any more nice earry (Hear, hear) shere any sharm in the word Republic to make is anything better than a Free State mben Ireland was golog to occupy the posision of a Free State among the nations of the earth, with an equal states so bis of Uan els. There were no Unionista now : they were all Nanionalla's (beer, hear), and he shought he civil say Sion Felners so far as they all wished for de peace, prosperlay, and good government of their country (p plause). He then proposed the following resoinblon :-. We, the members of the Limerick Chamber of Commerce, in association with representa lives of the professions and staders of this city, in general meeting assembled, herewith give expression to our considered opinion that the ratification of the Treaty of Peace between Eogland and Ireland will bring contentment, hampiness, and properly to this country, and therefore; we balleve that the Treaty should be ranified. We call upon our representatives to give effect to this opinion." (Hear, hear)

Mr James Quin said that the great trouble of this country is the past had been disunton, which means strife, and "divide and conquer" had been the motto of England. He expressed sympathy with those who suffered from the apposition during that unfortunate period from which they emerged last July. He asked Miss Daly to consider her attitude, and said shey ware all Irichmen no matter what their past opinions had been, and they were all now estiving to do their best for the common country.
