IRISH AGRICULTURAL PRODUCE PRICES

The following is the Department's return of the average wholesale prices of agricultural produce at certain Irish markets during the week ended 17th September, 1921. The prices shown are the average wholesale prices paid in the markets mentioned for the particular quality of produce sold there.

EGGS.—Hen eggs dropped slightly in price at most markets. In Belfast the fall was from 30s 16d per 120 to 29s 6d; in Londonderry from 25s to 22s 6d; in Dublin from 24s 7d to 23s 4d; and in Limerick from 21s 11d to 21s 3d.

BUTTER.—Farmers' butter dropped between 2d and 3d per lb. At Londonderry prices fell from 2s 2d to 2s 1d; at Belfast from 2s 3d to 2s 2d; at Dublin from 1s 8d to 1s 7d; and at Limerick from 2s 4d to 2s 3d.

POULTRY.—Prices of poultry were at a somewhat higher level. CHICKEN prices again varied widely from market to market. Prices were highest in Dublin at 4s 6d per pair compared with 11s 6d in the previous week.

POTATOES.—Prices showed a cheapening tendency. The range for the week was from 4s 6d per cwt. at Cork and 4s 9d at Belfast and Londonderry to 10s at Ennis.

PORK.—The demand for pork is still strong. Prices of all market grades were up at all markets. At Belfast prices were 12s 6d per cwt. and at Londonderry 12s 6d per cwt.

TIPPERARY MARKET PRICES. THURSDAY.

Cattle—Butcher—Cows—14d (quality), 12d (poor quality), 10d (old). Hens—1s 2d to 1s 4d. Eggs—Duck, 1s 10d to 1s 12d. Poultry—Old Hens, 7s to 8s per pair. Chickens, 8s to 10s per pair. Ducks, 2s to 4s per pair. Ducklings, 8s to 10s per pair. Potatoes (large supply) 8d and 10d per stone.

DONASKEIGH RACES.

Donaskeigh is to have its horse and pony races, and a capital programme has been arranged for Sunday, the 1st prox, the card containing one event for a £10 stake. The meeting is being held for a benevolent object, and we shall be greatly surprised if the attendance is not of large dimensions.

GALBALLY RACES.

An attractive programme of horse and pony races, with a donkey Derby, will be brought off at Galbally on Sunday, and we understand that entries promise so well that big fields and keen competition are assured.

CASHEL URBAN COUNCIL.

ABUSE OF THE CITY HALL.

Resignation of the Town Clerk.

The Sale of the Corporate Property.

A special meeting of the above was held on Tuesday night, Mr. R. Looby (chairman) presiding. The other members present were—Messrs. C. O'Connor, M. Ryan, J. Conroy, J. Hickey, J. Corcoran, T. O'Connor, and J. Murphy.

The City Hall.

The Town Clerk said that before reading the correspondence he would like to say that a few years ago the Town Hall was in a very nice state—a considerable sum of money had been expended on its renovation. He felt pained from time to time to see the sort of treatment it received at the hands of people who were permitted the use of the place.

Chairman.

The Town Clerk is perfectly right in his remarks, because I was in here lately, and I heard great noise as if people were galloping over land. I went up immediately and cleared them out.

Mr. Hickey.

It is like a common sense with no one to look after it.

Mr. Ryan.

It seems to me that the council has no power when we make order of the one thing to the winds.

Mr. Conroy.

I suggested some time ago that the levy be handed over to the council. The agent but it is never done.

Chairman.

When we give the use of the hall to the public, the council is responsible for the hall in a proper condition.

Mr. O'Connor.

I don't see why the young people, who can enjoy liberty, could not suspend their jubilation for a while, and then, thank God, they can rejoice with all their hearts.

A Complaint by the Town Clerk.

The Town Clerk read the following letter from Mr. Cosgrave, of the Dail Eireann Local Government Department, in reply to a complaint by the Town Clerk of an inspector of the department.

Chairman.

They are the best of it, these men doing penitentiary and enduring conditions of great hardship and privation.

Mr. Conroy.

What about the poor inmates?

Chairman.

They are the best of it, these men doing penitentiary and enduring conditions of great hardship and privation.

Mr. Ryan.

As a member of the council I am very sorry to know that we are losing the valuable services of Mr. O'Leary.

The Corporate.

The Town Clerk—On the previous occasion that this inspector was here with me, I explained to him the position of the council with regard to the revenue from the corporate property.

Chairman.

I am informed on good authority that the English Government cannot interfere with what belongs to us because this is a private property.

Mr. O'Connor.

It is a serious matter if we are going to suffer the loss of £33,000 or £33,400.

he had no business to do as he did. Why should he interfere with the council's property and force in the door?

Chairman—I am not defending his action; he acted on his own responsibility; I have nothing to do with that part of the business.

Mr. Ryan—This inspector holds that the Town Clerk is a whole-time officer, and that he should be in the office during office hours, and he was perfectly right in doing what he did; he only broke the door because he wanted to examine the books as he was ordered to do.

Chairman—It was scarcely broken; he lifted the door, and the lock was not broken; it might be strained.

Mr. O'Connor—Under what Local Government Board are we working? I, for one, will not be running with the hare and hunting with the hounds.

Chairman—I gave verbal notice that I would move this resolution recognising Dail Eireann, and I did so.

Mr. Ryan—I never heard it, although I was at the meeting.

Chairman (to Mr. Murphy)—Didn't you second it?

Mr. Murphy—I seconded something; I did not exactly know what I seconded.

Mr. Ryan—Didn't you hear it read? Mr. Murphy—I heard it read, but I didn't know the meaning of it.

Chairman—So you are sorry for seconding the resolution?

Mr. Murphy—I am not sorry if I understood what I was doing.

Chairman—And you were sitting there.

Mr. T. O'Connor—Wasn't that swearing allegiance to Dail Eireann? You cannot send the minutes to any other Local Government Board.

Mr. O'Connor—That is the reason I draw attention to the matter, because I can tell you I have told very many gentlemen for the past twelve months, being a member of the Board of Guardians, did not do any business with any one except the Dail Eireann L.G. Department.

Chairman—The quickest, the widest appeal of any.

matter if we are going to suffer the loss of £33,000 or £33,400. I for one will not be a member of the council that will lose so much of the citizens' money.

Mr. Ryan—I opposed the recognition of Dail Eireann, not from any unpatriotic grounds, but because I knew how our finances were controlled, and what a serious effect it would have on our town to have to replace this money by paying rates.

Chairman—I will say nothing tonight about your departure, but the council will be greatly at a loss by your resignation.

Solicitor—They will miss him.

Mr. Corcoran—We cannot afford to lose him at the present time.

Mr. Ryan—I suppose we must accept Mr. O'Leary's resignation with regret, and we will thank him for his services to the new man, whoever he will be.

The council then made an order accepting the resignation of the Town Clerk, and decided on having a special meeting to deal with the drafting of an advertisement for the new appointment.

Chairman—I gave verbal notice that I would move this resolution recognising Dail Eireann, and I did so.

Mr. Ryan—I never heard it, although I was at the meeting.

Mr. Barry—We are getting the whole bonus.

"Not a Politician but a Soldier."

Advice to Employers and Employees.

Regarded with the worthy object of promoting the Irish language movement throughout the district, the Aeridheacht at Charleville, held on Sunday under the auspices of the Charleville branch of the Gaelic League, proved an unqualified success. O'Brien's death was associated with the history and, despite the fact that the Aeridheacht was held in the morning, the atmosphere was of a most interesting and stirring nature. great ability in the field. (Hear, hear.) Though his own body and himself only ran up against the outskirts of the British army in their movements, their local commandant had command of the whole Kerry brigade, and that he carried out his operations without any serious losses was a great tribute to his ability in the field. (Applause.) He would like to give some advice in connection with labor disputes. He had always been a working man, but for a few years had the misfortune to be an employer, and he therefore could speak impartially on that important matter. He would strongly advise employers and employees to give and take, and if they could not agree, to consult Dal Finn again before any strenuous action was taken on either side. (Applause.) The Dal Finn was composed, not of men who were open enemies, but of men who were open enemies. But of men who were open enemies. But of men who were open enemies.

to be out with a column when news of Sean O'Brien's murder in Charleville reached him. Sean O'Brien was a gentle, unassuming, clever, and courageous Irishman, and every man in the column deplored his death—they were too savagely angry to be sorry—and every man in the column registered a vow to be revenged, and before a week there was revenge. (Hear, hear.) That sort of revenge he supposed their priests would tell them was a poor revenge, and that was for each of them to become a real Irish-Irelander, and to clear out, bag and baggage, the power that rested on the shoulders of Sean O'Brien. (Cheers, and voices.) It is all over with them, and they are finished. That object could not be accomplished by every Irishman becoming a real-Irelander. (Cheers.) Some interjections had been made about the war being over. Probably it is all over with them, but it is not over in the only sense in which it is over, and I can tell you all that in the next few minutes. It will be my pleasure to tell you that. They were not only a great man, but a great man. They were not only a great man, but a great man.

CONFERENCE CONDITIONS.

"A Basis of Truth and Reality."

British Premier Would Meet "Chosen Spokesmen."

Mr. Lloyd George telegraphed on Saturday the following reply to Mr. De Valera's letter of Friday's date:—"Sir, I have received the communication which you telegraphed to me last night. It is idle to say that a conference in which we had already met your delegates as representatives of an independent and sovereign State would be a conference without prejudice."

To receive them as such would constitute a formal and official recognition of Ireland's independence from the King's authority. I am prepared to meet your delegates as I met you in July, in the capacity of chosen spokesmen for your people to discuss the association of Ireland with the British Commonwealth. My colleagues and I cannot meet them as the representatives of an independent and sovereign State without absolutely on our part to the Throne and the Empire.

I am sure that you will find it possible to meet your delegates as I met you in July, in the capacity of chosen spokesmen for your people to discuss the association of Ireland with the British Commonwealth. My colleagues and I cannot meet them as the representatives of an independent and sovereign State without absolutely on our part to the Throne and the Empire.

LIGHTING OF KILMALLOCK STREETS.

Deputation to District Council.

Appeal for Monetary Assistance.

At Friday's meeting of the Kilmallock Rural District Council a deputation, composed of Messrs. J. J. Power, solicitor; W. H. Madden, D. Cussen, and T. Conboy, directors of the local Electric Light Co., appeared in connection with the lighting of the town.

Mr. Madden, who acted as spokesman, said they were sent there as a deputation to know if the council would lend them monetary aid for lighting the streets of the town. Hitherto the lamps were kept lit by one or two benefactors, and they considered it would be a good act on the council's part to interest themselves in the scheme. He hoped the council would see its way to give them a yearly grant to whatever extent it would be possible. A similar grant was made to their predecessors in office, and they concluded it would be a right thing to help. They knew the money was not very much, but they thought it would be better in the long run. The money would be more than enough to help. #### FATALITY IN DUNDRUM BARRACKS.

Last Tuesday an inquiry was held at Tipperary military barracks into the death of Constable Rummy, who was fatally shot in Dunderum barracks at one o'clock the previous morning. The circumstances, it is stated, admit of no suspicion of foul play. The proceedings were not open to the Press. The deceased was a native of Heaton, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

Premier's Reply Delayed.

Not Expected Until Next Week.

The latest news from Gairloch is that the Prime Minister's reply to Mr. de Valera may not be forwarded before next week.

In Dublin the delay in answering Mr. de Valera was regarded as a favourable sign. Sinn Fein expects that any possible accommodation will come from the Prime Minister.

The Lord Lieutenant has arrived at Gairloch, and Lord Birkenhead is expected there to-day.

The peace negotiations and the state of Ireland were discussed by the Northern Parliament on Wednesday. The speakers generally criticised the conduct of the negotiations, and urged that the Imperial Government should enforce law and order, especially in Belfast and the province of Ulster.

THE IRISH RAILWAY TROUBLE.

Hopes from Conference. The railway situation is much brighter (our Dublin correspondent wires) as a result of a conference which has been arranged between the three railways concerned in the strike and representatives of various trades unions interested. The conference meets this afternoon, Lord Justice O'Connor is presiding, and hopes are expressed that an early settlement of the dispute will result. Unless a settlement is arrived at it is feared the situation will assume a very grave aspect.

TIPPERARY SCHOOL SPORTS.

INTERESTING AFTERNOON PROGRAMME. SOME PROMISING YOUNGSTERS.

Glorious weather favoured the inaugural school sports, held on Sunday afternoon last. The morning was threatening, and there was a cold east wind; but, happily, as the day advanced things brightened up, and when a start was made summerlike conditions prevailed.

The entries set up a record, the total reaching the extraordinary number of 279, the largest ever recorded for a school sports in Tipperary, and scarcely ever exceeded in any part of Ireland.

The Show Grounds, where the meeting was held, presented an animated appearance, and, considering the shortness of the notice, the public patronised the meeting well, so that quite a big crowd had assembled as the afternoon wore on.

The competitions were very keen, and especially so in Grade 2, confined to boys under 16. The heats of the different events were very closely contested, and the judges had some difficulty in arriving at their decisions in some cases.

In each grade the competition was very keen, and especially so in Grade 2, confined to boys under 16. The heats of the different events were very closely contested, and the judges had some difficulty in arriving at their decisions in some cases.

The mile walk was something of a novelty, and while all the competitors did not adhere to fair heel-and-toe, it was a pretty well contested event. The two bicycle races attracted a good entry, and capital contests resulted, especially in the mile, which was a ding-dong affair between Masters Carroll and Crowe, the verdict going to the former by half a wheel.

Where there was so much merit, the picking out of individuals for special mention is always attended with some risk of adverse comment; but, nevertheless, I cannot help making particular reference to a few. In the Seniors two stood out prominently: Masters Sullivan and O'Brien.

Before racing started there was an incident on the sideline which created some excitement for a minute or two. Three policemen in uniform were noticed taking photographs of the officials and competitors in the enclosure, and were approached by a number of the Volunteers, who ordered them to desist.

Large numbers of Volunteers were on duty on the road and in the field, and kept first-class order. The arrangements generally were carried out in a most satisfactory manner, the offic-bearers, as follows, each and all discharging creditably the duties allotted to them.

The pick of the cyclists was Master Ned Carroll. There is a great future in store for this young rider; and unless the writer is greatly mistaken he should prove one of our very best wheelmen. He has speed and stamina, and these, coupled with a perfect style and strength, should assure him a foremost place amongst cyclists in a year or two, judging.

The judges—Messrs. P. J. Godfrey, D. J. McCarthy, and R. O'Brien—had a difficult task, but succeeded in getting through it in a capable manner. Being old hands at the game, their decisions were respected, and met with approval all round.

On the whole the meeting was a great success from every point of view. The public were well satisfied with the programme, and the competitors gave of their best. There is one thing certain: that the School Sports have come to stay, and this annual event will arouse much keen excitement and preparations amongst the younger element in future.

Large numbers of Volunteers were on duty on the road and in the field, and kept first-class order. The arrangements generally were carried out in a most satisfactory manner, the offic-bearers, as follows, each and all discharging creditably the duties allotted to them.

100 Yards (Open) for Boys under 16 years.—W. Ryan (Acraoby), 1; Patk. Ryan (Ballintemple), 2. Ten started. W. Ryan took the lead about forty yards from the tape, and won easily. 100 Yards (Open).—First Heat—P. Rielly (Donohill), 1; C. Rielly (do.), 2. Seven ran.

Half-Mile (Open)—J. Kiey, Aherlow; 1 T. Doherty (Donohill), 2. Twelve ran. A good race. Carr led for the first lap, when Kiey and Doherty took up the running, parting company with the other competitors, and Kiey, being strongly challenged by Doherty, got a good run to the tape. Won by a yard.

110 Yards (Open)—S. Moloney, 1; T. Ryan, 2. Nine ran. Moloney was severely handicapped, and was led a merry dance by Misty Tipperary for the first lap, when Ryan shot out. This was the order until about forty yards from home, when Moloney went on and won easily.

One Mile (Open)—T. Doherty, 1; D. Loohey, 2. Eleven ran. Only one finished. The issue from the start lay between Doherty and Loohey. A well-contested race. Two-Mile Bicycle Race (Open)—M. Crowe (Doon) had a walk over. Considerably after the time a local competitor turned up, but the judges had then given their decision.

Pony Race, for ponies 12.2 and under. About 1 1/2 miles. Mr. J. J. Doherty's Knight of Greenane, 1; Mr. J. Dwyer's Irish Eyes, 2. Betting—5 to 1 on Greenane, 3 to 1 on Knight of Greenane, 3 to 1 on Foggy Dew, and 1 to 1 on Nanny.

Allabala led the way from Knight of Greenane, Gipsy, and Jack. In the second lap Irish Eyes, piloted by little Miss Ryan, drew out followed by Knight of Greenane, Jack, and Foggy Dew. About a quarter of a mile from home Irish Eyes gave way to Knight of Greenane, who won by two lengths. Donohill Plate. About 2 1/2 miles.

Mr. J. Dwyer's Irish Eyes, 1; Mr. Maxwell's Hazledon, 2. Betting—2 to 1 on Hazledon, Evens Irish Eyes, 1 to 1 on Weehole, 3 to 1 on Joe G. Cappamore Lass, 3 to 1 on Cappamore Lass. Seven started, but only two finished. Cappamore Lass took the lead, followed by Hazledon and Irish Eyes. In the second lap Hazledon challenged Cappamore Lass, who gave way, and the two other candidates fell out. The race was now between Hazledon and Irish Eyes. The latter drew out a short distance from home, and won amidst applause.

The Farmers' Plate. About 2 1/2 miles. Mr. D. Murray's Dawn of Freedom, 1; Mr. P. Coffey's Just the Same, 2. Betting—2 to 1 on Dawn of Freedom, 2 to 1 on Highpark Boy, 3 to 1 on Just the Same, Evens Bansha Trotter. Dawn of Freedom and Kiss Me Darling went on in partnership, followed by Molly and Highpark Boy. In the second lap Just the Same drew out and led the way until the last lap, when Dawn of Freedom threw down the Gauntlet and won by ten lengths.

Comm. McKeown in Limerick. Com. J. J. McKeown paid, by invitation, a visit to Limerick on Saturday afternoon. He travelled by motor-car from Longford with some friends, and was met by a number of local admirers, who showed him the historic sites of the town. He was everywhere very heartily received. He had supper at Strand House, the residence of Mr. S. O'Mara, on whose grounds a carnival was being held in aid of the building of a new Catholic church for St. Muphin's parish, and subsequently he briefly addressed a large gathering on the lawn.

Mrs. O'Donovan, deputy mayor, introduced him to the impromptu meeting in most complimentary terms. Comm. McKeown, who was in uniform, said one of his greatest wishes was to visit Limerick, which had always done its part in the national struggle. He thanked the people for the welcome extended to him, and he was happy at being amongst them. He was sure those whom he addressed were worthy descendants of the men and women who had made history in Limerick.

Canon O'Driscoll thanked all who aided in making the carnival the greatest success ever witnessed in the city, and the proceedings ended. MOUNTBRUCE PRISONER RELEASED. Mr. D. Noonan, Mountbruce, was liberated last Monday from Cork Gaol, after serving a term of imprisonment for alleged illegal drilling.

CLONMEL LABOUR RALLY. Mr. C. O'Shannon, speaking at a big rally organised by the Clonmel branch of the I.T.W. Union, said that they must get back to the old system, under which the workers and the producers of the wealth of the nation, and not the capitalists, should be heirs to the wealth of the nation.

SARSFIELD AND BALLINEETY. What Was the Route from Cashel?

The name of Sarsfield is imperishably associated with the surprise of King William's siege train at Ballineety. The victory lent prestige to the Irish arms, sorely pressed since the defeat at the Boyne. Much has been written by historians about Limerick and the Williamite siege, and the glorious defence of it, and it is only when we come to deal with Sarsfield's historic ride over the bleak mountains of Tipperary that we can break new ground, and publish, for the first time, some new facts connected with that great military feat.

On Sunday, August 10th, 1690, or 231 years ago last month, William's siege train and waggons of ammunition had reached royal Cashel. Here the weary soldiers camped for the night. In two days, if all went well, they would reach their King's headquarters before Limerick. And what was to prevent them—who dare oppose their march? The broken Irish forces were but in at Limerick, and the country all round in Williamite hands.

The rich lands from Cashel to Ballineety, and through to Limerick, were settled by English people who had no love for the Stuart cause. The Irish were scattered among the wild fastnesses of the Keeper mountains and in the woods and glens north of Doon and Cappawilly. Dunderum was in the hands of the Maudsels, the old chieftains, the O'Dwyers of Kilmarnagh having been driven out fifty years before by Cromwell. They had also lost the stronghold of Ballysleedy. What had William's men to fear from the mere Irish?

In a few days Limerick would be pounded into submission by their guns, and the last great fortress in the hands of the Irish passing to the custody of the English. So the soldiers camped at Cashel, we can safely presume, were in a cheerful mood and anticipated no disaster. On Monday morning, bright and early, the bugle called the men to arms, and the siege train rolled its cumbersome way towards Ballineety. What road did it take to Ballineety? The writer never saw any reference to this in any history, and his reading has been considerable along this domain. We can leave the Anglesy line, which runs from Dunderum to Hollyford, out of consideration, as it is a modern road. We can safely assert that neither was the new line built either at the time. But the train could have come via Gurtussa, Anacarty, Newtown, Ballyneal, Chodville, Ayle, etc., to Ballineety. The Anglesy line now serves as a link between the Anacarty road and Newtown roads, but in olden times a connection existed independent of this.

An old inn stood at Cary's Cross, and if the train came that way William's men, no doubt, quenched their thirst there. The Ballineety road, via Donohill and Blockvee, might have been the road chosen. Either the Newtown or the Ballineety road would have been the most direct to Ballineety. But we cannot leave the Golden, Killeale, Donaskeigh, and Shanabally way out of the picture. It is possible the siege train took this way. On the night of August 10th, Sarsfield slipped out of Limerick with a body of picked horsemen. They had for a guide galloping O'Hogan, a famous rapparee chief, who knew the wild passes of the Keeper mountains like a book. He was a romantic character in the history of Tipperary. Was he one of the O'Hogans who owned the locality known as Aileen Hogan, in the rich plains in Donohill? There is not an O'Hogan now living in that district, though they are to be met with in the flesh at Greenane, and some of them, at that, worthy scions of a stock that produced galloping O'Hogans.

On Monday they bivouacked on the mountains, probably about Rear Cross or Culhawn. At night they began their ride to storm the Williamite camp. Down the steep hillsides they galloped, led by the keen-eyed O'Hogan. Some fifty years ago an old schoolmaster at Carnahalla school traced for his pupils the path by which Sarsfield and his men came down from the hills. It was said to be up till recently a heathery path encompassed by verdant green, as if Nature herself wished to trace the path those horsemen of Sarsfield took in their historic ride. At Toem, where the little river crosses the road at Ballahane, two of Sarsfield's men paused to water their weary horses. One of them, local tradition states, said:—"What would William's men give us if we warned them of Sarsfield's intention?"

The other cursed under his breath and cautiously changed the subject. "Your horse is lame," said he. "Trot ahead until I see what is the trouble." The first speaker spurred his horse ahead, to be cut down by his comrade for his foolish or treasonable thought. We can presume safely that they rode via Clonganue, Moanmore, Boherdatha, and through the streets of Cullen. As Sarsfield, somewhere here, picked up the soldier's wife abandoned

HANDBALL IN CLONMEL. The Unexpected Happens.

Tipperary Players Beaten, but Win the Rubber.

On Sunday the second part of the inter-town rubber, Clonmel v. Tipperary, was played, and proved something of a surprise. Clonmel winning in all cases except one. Though Tipperary held the lead on Sunday week, the Clonmel men were at a disadvantage in the Tipperary alley, it being smaller, and having a back wall, while on Sunday, in the home alley, they made rings round their opponents, who, nevertheless, put up a fine exhibition. Details:—

Singles—T. Farrell (Clonmel) v. R. Wade (Tipperary). The latter had only one game to go to win, but the Clonmel man proved too clever in the home court, and ran out winner of five games on the score:— Farrell—21, 21, 21, 21, 21. Wade—8, 0, 0, 19, 6.

The fourth game left the rubber in jeopardy, but Farrell, who is perhaps the best Clonmel player, pulled it out of the fire. D. McLeahy (Clonmel) v. P. Brett (Tipperary). The Clonmel man again ran out all the games, the Tipperary man going to 18 in two:— McLeahy—21, 21, 21, 21, 21. Brett—0, 18, 10, 2, 18.

Doubles—J. Smith and J. Fitzgerald (Clonmel) v. J. Killackey and N. McGivney (Tipperary). The Clonmel men had won one game in Tipperary and tossed the necessary four in succession. Smith showed himself a fine player, and his companion's long range play was the talk of the evening. The Tipperary men went to 14 at their highest score:— Clonmel—21, 21, 21, 21, 21. Tipperary—12, 9, 14, 0.

In the last match Clonmel suffered defeat, the visitors, who had won four games at home, gaining the necessary one to win the rubber. H. J. Wade and J. McInerney (Tipperary) and T. Connors and T. Shanahan (Clonmel) were the contestants. Tipperary—7, 21. Clonmel—21, 14. The hard ball, of course, was used, and the display all round was fine. There was a big contingent present from Tipperary, and the accommodation for spectators, which is somewhat cramped, was crowded with enthusiasts.

Mr. J. Buckley, the well-known Caher handballer, acted as judge. THE ABBEY ROBBERY. Volunteers Restore Stolen Property. Last week we announced the arrest, by the I.R. police, of three young men in Tipperary suspected in connection with the robbery of jewellery and other valuables from the residence of Mr. Steel, headmaster of the Abbey School. Practically all the missing property (found, it is said, in the house in which one of the suspected men resided) has been restored by the Volunteers to its owner. One of the young men arrested is still detained, and is slated to have been tried and found guilty by a Sim Fein court. The other two men arrested were, as we reported last week, found not guilty and discharged.

SYMPATHY. Sympathy means sacrifice—it means a definite alignment on the side of that which is weak and struggling, not merely on the side of victories and majorities. Anybody finds it easy to fall in with shouting and spectacular successes. Anybody can come along when the rewards are handed out and put in a claim for a lion's share of credit. But it is another thing to go into the dark with the lowly, to share the bread of sorrow with the despairing and the defeated, to confront failure, to stand by the despised and the humiliated ones, to help in carrying the cross in a wilderness rather than to acclaim the wearer of a crown and ask to sit in glory in the light beside him.

How easy it is to sympathise with the successful, and to help a rich man eat his dinners, and to assist him in the spending of his money! The rich and powerful do not lack for friends; and it is unfortunate that many otherwise good Christians toady to them. Christ came, lived, worked, and died among the poor, the miserable and the lowly, and His true disciples are only too glad to be found among and assisting them.

by the Williamites, we can also infer that the train most likely came by Ballyneal and Ayle, or Donohill. At three o'clock in the morning on Tuesday, Sarsfield surprised the Williamites, put them to the sword, blew up train and ammunition, and won a notable victory over William.

ESCAPE FROM KILWORTH CAMP. Many Internees Regain Their Liberty.

Another dramatic escape of Irish internees is reported, and this time the sensational news comes from Kilworth Camp, the largest military encampment in the South of Ireland. As in the case of the great clearance at the Curragh the previous week the tunnel method was on this occasion again employed, and the number of men who have succeeded in regaining their freedom is variously estimated at between twenty and forty.

On Thursday about twenty-five of the internees were removed under heavy escort to another centre of internment. It is believed that it was the intention to remove the remainder to the same destination on Friday, but when the guard arrived with the logistics for their transport they found all had disappeared except one or two. The tunnel must have been already made, or almost made, when the internees were surprised by the sudden removal of half their number. The remainder then decided to take their chance, and, with the exception of one or two, all got away. One man, it is stated, was too fat to crawl through the tunnel, and was reluctantly compelled to remain behind.

There was subsequently military activity in the country around the camp, but, so far as is known, none of the escaped prisoners were recaptured. A number of civilian workmen in the military camp were placed under arrest, but after a few hours' detention were released.

The internees, it is learned, were mostly local men who were arrested from time to time, and others were natives of Waterford and Tipperary.

MUNSTER COUNCIL. Championships Off for the Present.

A special meeting of the Munster Council was held in Limerick on Saturday for the purpose of hearing a deputation from the Central Council, Dublin, re the decision of the Munster Council ratifying the action of the Cork County Board not to resume the championships. The action of the Cork County Board was based on two primary grounds, viz., that the existing political situation in the country rendered the playing of important matches not only inopportune but impossible so far as Cork was concerned. The Central Council, or a section of that body, seemed to think that it ought to be possible to proceed with the competition, and accordingly a deputation, consisting of Messrs. D. McCarthy, L. J. O'Toole, and M. Crowe, appeared before the Munster Council meeting, held in the Gaelic League rooms, Limerick, with the object of setting forth their views on the matter.

Mr. P. Brennan presided, and there were present, in addition to the deputation mentioned, Messrs. T. McGrath (Clare), D. Lanigan, P. Kiey, Limerick; J. McCarthy (chairman Cork Co. Board), T. Ryan and A. Carew (Tipperary), A. Quilliam (treasurer Munster Council), and P. McGrath, secretary, do. Mr. D. McCarthy having outlined the position of the central council in reference to the championship, a long discussion ensued, most of which was private. The views expressed were similar to those which were ventilated at the Cork County Board meeting, and later at the meeting of the Munster Council, and which have already been published.

It was decided to adhere to the previous decision of the Munster Council not to resume the championship for the present. DEATH OF SIR JOHN M. HEFFERNAN. The death has taken place, at Burton-on-Trent, in his eighty-seventh year, of Sir John Harold Heffernan, K.C.B. A member of an old Munster family, he joined the Royal Navy, and served with distinction in the engineering branch of the Service. He was appointed assistant engineer in 1855, and three years later was engaged in connection with the laying of the Atlantic cable, and was awarded gold medals for his services. Sir John Heffernan served at Alexandria, and was afterwards promoted Inspector of Machinery, and eventually Chief Inspector. He retired from the Service in 1892, and was created a knight in 1914. For many years past he had resided at Portsmouth.

ART OF BEING DEAF. Who knows this art? Who wants to acquire it? It is so sweet to gossip and relate the mistakes and sins of our neighbours—and to listen to such gossip. If a class were started in which the art of being deaf were taught how many would join that class? If we will have to give an account for every idle word, will we not be accountable for listening to idle and sometimes sinful talks? If we did not hear, gossipers would not wag their tongues any longer.

AN OLD PLAYER IN LA GRANDE.

J. H. PEARE'S IMPORTANT OFFICE.

THREE OLD-TIME MATCHES DESCRIBED.

By "Dr. Mick."

It is gratifying to learn that the articles recently appearing in these columns under the above heading have been read by many of Dark Rosaleen's exiled sons beyond the Atlantic's proud swell, and whose friends at home do not forget to send them the local news paper.

Last week a prominent citizen received a copy of "La Grande Evening Observer" from a Tipperary man in La Grande, together with a short note, and as the latter was not marked "my note" I will let you have its contents.

Dear Sir, I got "The Tipperaryman" for the last three months, and it revives pleasant past memories, and affords me interesting reading. I saw where you referred to J. H. Peare, some time Tipperary's best 100 yards man and an all round athlete. His many friends will be glad to know he is here in the pink. You will see from the photo in paper mailed you by this post, kind regards. Yours, etc.

M. J. C.

The paper "La Grande Evening Observer" received in due course of Mr. Peare's photo on the 19th with the following reference to it: President Harding, on the last month (August) visited John H. Peare, Tipperary's best 100 yards man and an all round athlete. Peare's many friends will be glad to know he is here in the pink. You will see from the photo in paper mailed you by this post, kind regards. Yours, etc.

this the Shroneil men put forth all their energy in defence, and succeeded in pushing the ball to the centre of the field; but the Independents again repulsed the effort, and very soon obliged Shroneil to forfeit a point, and then another. Shroneil men, seeing the fortunes of the day going against them, again got stoutly on the defensive, and obliged their opponents to beat a hasty retreat to neutral territory; but this proved to be only a temporary check, as the Independents were soon again on the offensive, and at the call of time had a very respectable score of 1 goal and 8 points (4 forfeits) to nil for Shroneil. The Bohernabreena men played splendidly together, and were not lacking in either determination or pluck, qualities which were especially characteristic of all the South Tipperary teams. The Shroneil men, though beaten, took their defeat in good part. Aherlow v. Solohead.

On the same day Aherlow met Solohead. Solohead goal was threatened almost immediately, but the aid here proved equal to the occasion and neatly turned the ball to the corner of the field, from which Solohead worked it to the Aherlow goal, and gained a forfeit point. From the play that followed neither side could boast any advantage for a time, but some tight play in the afternoon on the Aherlow side resulted in another forfeit point. Some of the Aherlow men

CANADIAN STORES.

Injurious Effects of Removal of Embargo.

Opinion in the South.

Need for Proper Shipping Facilities.

The report of the Royal Commission favouring the withdrawal of the embargo on the importation of Canadian cattle has brought into prominence again what has been on many occasions a burning question amongst Irish cattle raisers and exporters.

The proposal has given rise to much consideration in the South.

In the course of an interview, at Saturday a prominent Cork exporter, Mr. J. J. O'Connell, said that he seemed little disposed to see the proposal, but that the sales of Irish exported cattle would diminish very considerably if Canadian cattle were to compete in English markets. Then there was the risk of disease, he said, and the loss of the cross-bred branch, which would be a great improvement.

CAPPAWHITE.

FORGOTTEN PLACE-NAMES NEAR CAPPAWHITE.

By St. John D. Seymour, B.D., Litt.D.

The following brief notes on names around the village of Cappawhite, now obsolete, and possibly forgotten even by the old people, may be of interest to the readers of "The Tipperaryman."

When we glance over the list of townlands in the parish we are interested by the fact that some of them, such as Cappawhite, Philipstown, and Chadville have a modern ring, and cannot be the original names, and when we bring our authorities, ancient and modern, together, our suspicion becomes a certainty.

success. The schools are roomy and most suitable for a dance, and "the boys" are leaving nothing undone to cater for the wants of everybody.

Slump in Prices.

Farmers are grumbling at the prices for cattle, etc., now ranging at the fairs. Indeed, there is a big slump, and things in general, from a farmer's point of view, are not very rosy.

In Case of Amalgamation.

I hope, in case the amalgamation scheme is finally decided on by our boards, to see the local hospital retained. It seems a necessary institution, which is doing a great work.

Our Schools.

All our local schools are now open again after the summer holidays. The children did not think the holidays half long.

lands, but of smaller places, of roads, of hills, of bogs, of streams, of fords, of ditches, and of gutters, most of which I fear are now lost beyond recovery.

[We cordially welcome the erudite editor of Cappawhite as a contributor, and note with a pleasure which we are sure our readers will share the expression of his intention to favour us with some further articles.—J. D. "The Tipperaryman."]

WELCOME!

Some Prices Fall in Tipperary.

At last there is a downward movement in prices in Tipperary—of some commodities. During the week the price of beef has been reduced from 18s. 4d. to 18s. 2d., and reductions which are welcomed as symptomatic of a general fall are noticeable in such very different articles as paraffin oil, by 1d. a gallon, and the popular "Skipper" sarafines, from 1s. to 9d. and 10d. per tin.

G.A.A. NOTES.

A Re-Play.

Arrangements are practically complete for the Tipperary and Dublin football match at Croke Park, though the date has not been definitely decided as yet.

In Limerick.

Tipperary and Limerick counties crossed canons at the Markets Fields, Limerick, on Sunday last. This was a return game, the teams having met a few weeks back at Thurles, when Tipperary, after a splendid game, won by a point.

In Leinster.

The long-balked-of Leinster Final in football was brought off at Croke Park on Sunday last, before 27,000 spectators. Kildare and Dublin were the finalists, and a few weeks ago had played a drawn game of 6 points each.
