PIG MEAL; ALSO A Calf and Cattle Meal

Barley Meal alone is not a perfect food. Though high in carbohydrates, it is low in oil and albuminoids. We are making up a meal consisting of 45 per cent. good kiln-dried barley, 10 per cent. of the best fish-meal low in oil, and the balance of 45 per cent. of impure foodstuffs.

An ounce of practice is worth a ton of theory. Seeing is believing. The proof of the pudding is in the eating.

A TANKARDSTOWN FARMER writes:—Send me half a ton of the same Pig Meal as you sent my neighbours.

Another Farmer writes:—I put in a pen of alps with their backbones sticking through their backs. After feeding them for a fortnight on your meal I did not know them. In four weeks and three days from putting them in I sold them, weighing 13 stone each.

Analysis—6 1/2 per cent. oil and 16 1/2 per cent. albuminoids.

Also a first-class Calf and Cattle Meal suitable for dry or wet feeding. This Meal contains 9 per cent. oil and 15 per cent. albuminoids.

Pig Meal - 15/- per cwt. Calf Meal - 16/- per cwt. Cash with Order.

ILLEGAL FISHING AT CLONMEL.

At a meeting of persons interested in salmon fishing in the Clonmel district, the Mayor, Ald. E. Drohan, T.D., presiding, grave charges were made regarding poaching of spawning salmon in the Suir and its tributaries.

(To the Editor, "The Tipperaryman.")

Dear Sir,—I have read with interest your article in last issue in which you so exhaustively dealt with the difficulties of late mail deliveries in the town of Tipperary.

Let us accept the accuracy of Mr. Rahilly's statement that the postal deliveries commence at, say, 9.25 a.m. and are completed at 11.25 a.m. The statement, I presume, is accurate, but its accuracy is the foundation of my complaint.

Mr. Rahilly will probably say that this is not a reasonable proposition, with a depleted staff it may not be possible, but there should be a staff numerically and efficiently competent to make it possible.

I have no sympathy at all with your complaint about the collection. Very few towns can post up to 8.30 p.m. for morning delivery in Dublin.

KILMALLOCK HORSE AND PONY RACES. President—M. Mortell. Treasurer—T. Caupion. Hon. Secs.—J. Sheedy and M. Houlihan.

At Kilmallock pony races, which were held on Monday, no less than thirty-three candidates turned out in the four events on the card. The ground, which was rather soft owing to the previous night's rain, made the going somewhat heavy.

The Rabbit was made an odds-on chance for the Balbec Plate, and, after accounting for the opposition early in the race, went on to win in a common canter.

Also ran—Mr. P. Quinn's I Don't Know, Mr. P. Irwin's Kitty Darling, Mr. J. Burke's No Partition, Mr. J. Sheedy's Flying Kitty, Mr. P. Clerly's Rallycullane, Mr. O'Carroll's Kytoi.

I will thank you to publish this letter and invite the co-operation of your readers in an effort to secure for the town postal facilities, so far as morning deliveries are concerned, enjoyed by other business communities in the country.—Yours, etc., ERNEST J. LYONS. November 22nd, 1921.

KNOCKAVILLA PARISH COURT.

Trespass: Cases Adjudged.

Breach of Warranty in a Heifer.

Plaintiff and Defendant at Logger-heads.

"Able To Talk to Four Together."

On Monday last a court was held in the parish of Knockavilla. Three Republican magistrates, including a clergyman, adjudicated, and there was a large attendance of the general public.

Goods Sold and Delivered.

John J. Slattery, Tipperary, lodged a claim for £20, for 300, and other articles, having been delivered to the plaintiff, who had sold the same to the defendant.

Breach of Warranty.

The plaintiff, who is a farmer, had bought a heifer from the defendant, who is also a farmer. The heifer was sold to the plaintiff as being a cow of a certain breed, but when the plaintiff had taken her home, she was found to be a different breed. The plaintiff had paid for her £20, and he was now suing the defendant for the money back.

Mr. Slattery: I bought this heifer from Mr. Maher. It was a cow of a certain breed, but when I had taken her home, she was found to be a different breed. I had paid for her £20, and now I am suing you for the money back. I had a letter from you saying that she was a cow of a certain breed, but when I had taken her home, she was found to be a different breed. I had paid for her £20, and now I am suing you for the money back.

Mr. Maher: I had a letter from you saying that she was a cow of a certain breed, but when I had taken her home, she was found to be a different breed. I had paid for her £20, and now I am suing you for the money back. I had a letter from you saying that she was a cow of a certain breed, but when I had taken her home, she was found to be a different breed. I had paid for her £20, and now I am suing you for the money back.

Mr. Slattery: I had a letter from you saying that she was a cow of a certain breed, but when I had taken her home, she was found to be a different breed. I had paid for her £20, and now I am suing you for the money back. I had a letter from you saying that she was a cow of a certain breed, but when I had taken her home, she was found to be a different breed. I had paid for her £20, and now I am suing you for the money back.

Mr. Maher: I had a letter from you saying that she was a cow of a certain breed, but when I had taken her home, she was found to be a different breed. I had paid for her £20, and now I am suing you for the money back. I had a letter from you saying that she was a cow of a certain breed, but when I had taken her home, she was found to be a different breed. I had paid for her £20, and now I am suing you for the money back.

Witness, in reply to Mr. Maher, said that after the bargain was made he asked for the engagement. ...
Patrick Crowe, in reply to Mr. Maher, stated that Mr. Gleeson never said a word about or asked an engagement with the heifer. ...
Cross-examined by Mr. D'Arey— I would not say the inch who swore I gave an engagement were perjuring themselves. ...
John Crowe (father of test witness) deposed that he was thirty years drinking to death and was never in court before. ...

paid him £30 each for three beasts, including the one in dispute. Hughes bought her from him, and he was afterwards decreed for £5.

Mr. D'Arey—What were the animals sold to you as?—As in-calf heifers.

Mr. Maher—Had she two horns?—So far as I can remember.

Then she mustn't be the same heifer at all.

Here plaintiff spoke to witness.

Mr. Maher (to plaintiff)—Don't be prompting him.

Plaintiff—I am not.

Mr. Maher—There is too much of the fair given about that.

Witness, in reply to Mr. Maher, said that after the bargain was made he asked for the engagement.

Patrick Crowe, in reply to Mr. Maher, stated that Mr. Gleeson never said a word about or asked an engagement with the heifer. The only thing he asked him was if there was a calf in her. She was a well-conditioned beast, and he had her with store-cattle opposite the barrack at the time. They had had her three months, and bought her from Mr. Slattery at £27 10s.

Cross-examined by Mr. D'Arey—I would not say the inch who swore I gave an engagement were perjuring themselves. That remains to be told. I am perfectly clear that I did not give an engagement, for I could not do so had had the beast only three months.

John Crowe (father of test witness) deposed that he was thirty years drinking to death and was never in court before. He did not get an engagement of any kind, but was engaged to a girl.

IRISH POSTAL UNION.

(To the Editor, "The Tipperaryman.")

Sir,—I am directed by the members of the above-named union to challenge the veracity of your statements in your article "Improving for the Worse," appearing in your first addition, and to ask that you will please insert this letter in to-day's edition. The commencement of the morning delivery was never an hour or two late during the past fortnight, neither were the town postmen as late on delivery as one or two o'clock. The start of the morning delivery averaged 9.25 a.m., and the delivery was completed by 11.45 a.m. each day. On the morning of the 12th inst., the mail-car was forty minutes late on its arrival with the mails, and in consequence the postmen were forty minutes late—certainly not later—in the deliveries. A late arrival of mail adds a very rare occurrence.

My union contends that the present postal arrangements are quite satisfactory. How many business houses are open before 9.30 a.m. in the country town of Tipperary? They are very few. Again, how many business houses are open after 6.0 p.m.? They are also very few. Yet the members of the P.O. are obliged to be up and doing as early as 6.30 a.m. and as late as 9.0 p.m. P.O. employees are as much entitled to normal hours as any other class of workers. Furthermore, it is the policy of our union to abolish unnatural working hours, such as early morning or late night attendances. These attendances are already bad enough—extend the postal facilities and our duty is to improve for the worse. Let the members of their union who are the other workers in Tipperary ...

Keep Us In Mind

WHEN YOU WANT PRINTING, AND KEEP THE WORK AT HOME in Tipperary Town.

Incidentally, you will get intelligent and tasteful service, and prompt attention to your orders.

We are properly equipped, well-staffed, and already doing a fine job-printing business—but we want to do more.

We want the local community to enable us, by their orders, to A.T. LEAST DOUBLE AN ALREADY HEAVY WAGES BILL.

TWAINS OF WISDOM.

Mr. Maher: I had a letter from you saying that she was a cow of a certain breed, but when I had taken her home, she was found to be a different breed.
