JURORS AND OATH. Incident at Ennis inquest. OUR AMERICAN LETTER. Brooklyn, New York, October 17th, 1921. One of the greatest Irish mass meetings in recent years was held in Madison Square Garden, New York City, last night, two representatives of the Irish people, Messrs. Harry Boland, member of Dail Eireann and Irish Envoy to the United States, and Stephen O'Mara, Mayor of Limerick, made it plain that Ireland is not going to lay down her arms for less than the liberty she has fought to gain.

OUR POETS' CORNER. THE BOY SCOUT. It was a dreary autumn night, The sky revealed no trace of light, I blessed the fire so warm and bright That made my room so cheery.

POOR LAW SYSTEM. AN INTERESTING EXPERIMENT TO BE MADE IN DUBLIN. Economy and Efficiency Aimed At. A six months' experiment in Poor Law administration, which may have far-reaching results for the whole of Ireland, was decided on by Dublin Board of Guardians, on the recommendation of the Local Government Department of Dail Eireann at a special meeting on Friday.

THE PASSION PLAY. The history of the Passion Play at Ober-Ammergau shows that on many occasions the representation was threatened with extinction, and were it not for the pious zeal of the inhabitants of the little village this great function would have long since disappeared.

LADY PRISONERS' COUP. The escape is believed to have taken place at the point where the 20 prisoners used a rope ladder in March, 1919, to get away. An 'Irish Independent' representative was told that people on the canal bank saw persons on the top of the wall in male attire, who slid quickly to the ground and ran away, and that the ladies who got away were actually attired as men.

JURORS AND OATH. The demand for lower prices has caused a large number of alleged 'cheap' bicycles—some of them of foreign origin and thrown together in the most slipshod style—to be put upon the market, and the great Raleigh Cycle Co. announces that it will place a new model on the market next year to directly meet the want of those who cannot afford the £14 14s. to 20 guineas of the standard Raleighs.

STEEL CORSETS FOR POLICEMEN. A Reuter message from New York says:—Steel corsets for policemen is the latest fashion in New York. Ten pairs, it has become known, had been purchased after tests had shown them to be bullet proof.

LADY PRISONERS' COUP. Repeated requests had been made to the authorities to allow her out on parole to visit her daughter, but the only concession they would grant would be to permit a visit accompanied by a doctor and a witness, and return to the prison each night.

JURORS AND OATH. An excellent second crop of strawberries is ripening in the gardens of the Grimsby Corporation Hospital at Scartho—unprecedented event in North Lincolnshire.

GOVERNING BODY. At the meeting of the Governing Body in connection with the County Limerick Union Amalgamation Scheme on Saturday the members in attendance were:—Messrs. B. Laffan (in the chair), J. Scannlan, M. Colman, P. Buckley, McCann, O'Flynn. The business was of a routine character.

WOMEN'S HAT FASHION. A new departure in fashions for women's hats is announced (writes a London correspondent). The tails of fishes are to be dried and treated, resulting in a display of iridescent coloring which will make them an admirable decoration.

THE PASSION PLAY. The actual Passion Play itself is not necessary to speak. The action begins with the entry of Our Lord into Jerusalem, and concludes with His Resurrection and final Ascension into Heaven. The narratives of the Four Evangelists have been carefully blended into one continuous history, and the dramatic additions which have been made, every word and every action are in complex accord with the sacred text.

JURORS AND OATH. Other lady prisoners still in Mountjoy are Kate Crowley, 20, penal servitude for life; Midge Coiter, 20 (do); Lily Coiter, 17 (do); Eileen McGeehan (4 years' penal servitude); Frances Brady (2 years' penal servitude); Maurice Parker, a Dublin lady, is serving a six months' sentence in Galway Jail.

THE AFTERMATH OF SACRILEGE. Dramatic Death of an Offender. The 'Daily Express' correspondent at Geneva writing on Friday says:—A strange case of sacrilege followed by a prompt and tragic nemesis occurred at Waldshut, on the Swiss-German frontier.

JURORS AND OATH. Miss Annie Coyle, school teacher, Kiltceown, Roscommon, was tried by F.G.C.M. in Dublin in March, and sentenced to one year without hard labour, for having, it was alleged, a sketch of R.I.C. military barracks, documents relating to Cumman-na-mBan, and a document regarding alleged atrocities by Crown forces on Irish citizens.

NOVEL OFFER. Widespread interest has been aroused by the scientific farmer, to hand over a farm worth £26,000 to a committee of his employees with the idea that they pay their own wages out of the proceeds. The offer was not accepted, and it is now extended to any reputable labour body, such as one or other of the agricultural workers' unions.

PROLIFIC TREES. At a farm near Preston all the Gayot pear trees have produced three crops of fruit this year, and there is still blossom, suggesting the possibility of a fourth crop.

THE PASSION PLAY. The players are of course all natives of the little village. Their names have not as yet been published, but it is certain that some of the consummate artists who portrayed chief characters in former years will again be seen in their various parts.

JURORS AND OATH. Miss Mary Burke, who was a Post Office clerk at Kilmacanogue, was tried by F.G.C.M. in Limerick, on May 26th, and sentenced to 2 1/2 years with hard labour. According to evidence of the prosecution I.R.A. despatches
